1. Car Park – Point Lynas (clockwise direction)

2. Point Lynas – The Old Telegraph Station

Follow the public footpath on the right side of the field eastwards towards the coast. With the wall on your right go through a kissing gate at the end of the field bear right down the hill to the sea. Follow the coast with the sea on your left and go through a kissing gate into the next field. Go straight across the field and through the kissing gate. Bear right a short distance up the hill to the next kissing gate. Follow the right hand edge of this field up to a metal kissing gate which is at the right hand corner of the field. Bear left across the next field moving diagonally up the hill past the way marker to the stile at the left hand corner. You will then go uphill through some gorse. Follow the main track and look out for the way-marker. At the top turn right and follow the wall (The Old Telegraph Station is the white house on the left) go over a stile and walk between the two fences and over another stile. Walk past the outbuilding and go over the adjacent stile onto the track. (To reach the summit of Mynydd Eilian, follow the path straight on, turning right on joining a lane and then turn left up to the summit).

3. The Old Telegraph Station – Car Park

Turn right down the track. At the entrance to 'Refail Hir' bear right down a hedged path. Shortly on your left there is an area of trees 'Coed Avens' owned and managed by the Woodland Trust which has public access granted to it. Carry on down the path until you meet the track. Turn right then very soon afterwards turn left over stone steps and through a gate into a field. Go down the left side of the field and over a stile. Bear right and follow the right hand fence line to a kissing gate, continue along the fence line to the next kissing gate in the right hand corner. Then bear left downhill to the stile by the bridge. Go over this stile onto the road, turn left and follow the road back up to the car park.
